Success at TOP 100: Instillo is one of the 2018 innovation leaders

Überlingen - For the 25th time, the TOP 100 competition has selected the most innovative companies in German SMEs. One of these innovation leaders in the anniversary year is Instillo GmbH. This was the result of the analysis of the scientific director of TOP 100, Prof. Dr. med. Nikolaus Franke. As a mentor of TOP 100, Ranga Yogeshwar honors the company from Überherrn together with Franke and compamedia on June 29, 2018 at the award ceremony in Ludwigsburg within the framework of the 5th German SME Summit. In the independent selection process, the company convinced especially in the category "innovation success"

Small reactors, great success - Instillo GmbH from Überherrn, Saarland, is driving the development in the field of microreactor technology. The pharmaceutical industry in particular benefits from the know-how of the mid-sized company founded in 2010. The focus of the TOP 100 company is on formulations in the nano- and microparticles area, which are used for example in the development of new drugs, dietary supplements, cosmetics or in technical systems. "Our self-developed microjet reactors offer possibilities for novel product formulations, quality leadership and process optimization," explains founder and managing director Dr. Bernd Baumstümmler.

In order to fully exploit the potential of its microreactors, Instillo permanently searches for new fields of application and cooperates with external partners. Once a new field of application has been found, it often leads to the founding of a spin-off tailored to the new business area, which the mother continues to support. With this strategy, the medium-sized company has grown rapidly in the
